Setting up an Event to allow entries on the day

Temp fix to set the system to allow entries on the day. Martin F tested this at a recent trial and successfully took several day entries via the Sport80 app.

Set the closing date and time to the same as event start time

Set the cut-off date to the following day of the event otherwise the cutoff would have been at midnight of the day of the event.

Initially on the permit I set the entry end date as the day after the event as there is no option to set the time so to prevent activation at midnight of the day of the event, I set that to the day after.

My initial settings of the event end time was 5pm of the day of the event, however immediately on midnight the event status went to completed and the option for entering was removed.

In order make the event active again I had to change the end date of the event to the day after the actual event, I changed the time also (don't think the time is relevant function though). After doing this the event became active once more and then the option of entering now became available once again.
